YOUTH@CLC

IF YOU ARE PASSIONATE ABOUT CHILDREN'S RIGHTS AND MAKING SURE YOUNG PEOPLE HAVE THEIR VOICES HEARD THEN WE WANT TO HEAR FROM YOU

WHO IS YOUTH@CLC?

Youth@CLC is the youth advisory panel of the Children's Law Centre (CLC). It is made up of a group of 14-18 year olds who are passionate about the rights of children and young people.

WHAT DOES YOUTH@CLC DO?

Youth@CLC speaks up for other children and young people and campaigns on topics important to them. This includes meeting with decision makers. They also raise awareness of children's rights for other young people through the media, social media, videos and more.

WHAT DOES BEING A MEMBER INVOLVE?

Youth@CLC is led by young people. As a group, Youth@CLC will work closely with CLC's Youth Participation and Advocacy Worker to design campaigns, inform the work of CLC and be a voice for their peers on children's rights issues. They meet as a group monthly.
